

The Art of the Question

Winter/Spring 2012

A meaningful question is akin to a knightly quest. Adventures in the world serve to quicken and define the life of the soul. From this inner ground springs questions of destiny and true being. A well-formed question can become a portal to higher worlds.

The art of the question is an essential characteristic of the modern age of the 'consciousness' soul. Centuries ago we find a precursor of this art in the adventures of Parzival--a knightly epic of the Middle Ages and a must-read for Waldorf high school students.

Corps de Michael's winter/spring study will combine Rudolf Steiner's lectures on the Quest for the Grail with readings in Wolfram von Eschenbach's Parzival. Morning sessions will focus on the Grail while afternoon sessions will focus on the adventures of Parzival. The morning session will include Goethean conversation and a summary. In all sessions we shall seek to formulate questions for an encore visit by Master Waldorf teacher emeritus, Edward R. Stone. Mr. Stone taught at Kimberton Waldorf School for over thirty years.

On Sunday, 29th April, Edward Stone will join us at Stonehaven, Hershey, PA for a culminating session on 'The Art of the Question'. Ed's first visit on 20th November 2011 celebrated the 20th Anniversary of the Commonwealth Center for Anthroposophy. Seven questions posed by friends and members from seven Pennsylvania counties resulted in a most illuminating session with the elder knight. All welcome. For additional information please call: 717-964-3376 or write: thecorpsdemichael@yahoo.com

Meeting dates: February 5th, March 4th, April 1, & April 29th

Meeting schedule:

10:15 to 12:30—Quest for the Holy Grail (Rudolf Steiner)

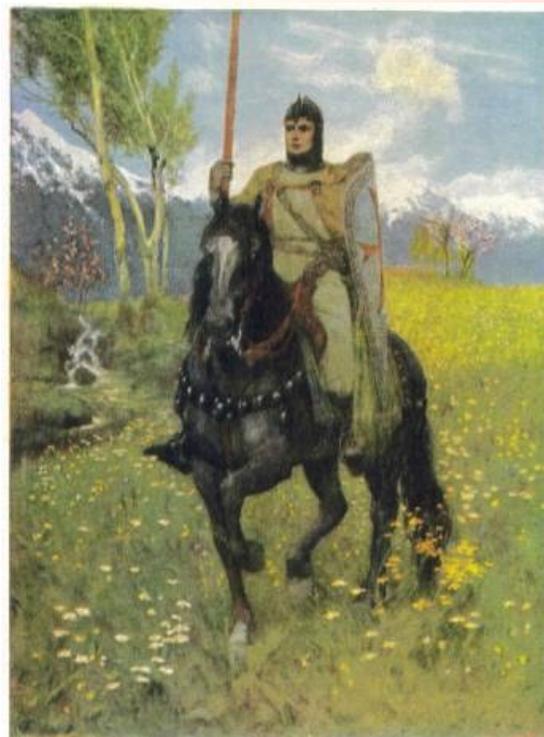

12:30 to 2pm--Community potluck

2 to 3pm--Parzival (Wolfram von Eschenbach)

Links: Steiner's Grail lectures available as "Christ and the Spiritual World and the Search for the Holy Grail" at the Rudolf Steiner Archive

<http://wn.rsarchive.org>

We look forward to seeing you in the sweetest place on earth,

The Initiative Group

David Lenker, Michael Mazock, Jeffrey Turnbull, Adrien & Rebekah Barlup, and Kristyn 'Blue' Simmons

Susquehanna Corps de Michael
www.corpsdemichael.org

*Susquehanna Corps de Michael
Anthroposophical Society in Hershey*